

REFUND BILL IS PASSED.

Final Enactment Delayed.

Measure for Handling All Foreign Debts Given Vote of 39 to 25.

Maturity Date Must Not be Set at More Than Twenty-five Years Hence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The bill authorizing the refunding of the $11,000,000 foreign debt in securities maturing in not less than twenty-five years was passed tonight by the Senate.

The vote was 39 to 25. Final enactment of the measure must await adjustment of differences between the House and Senate, which is expected within a week or ten days. Three Republicans, Borah, La Follette and Norris, joined with the solid Democratic majority in opposing the bill.

Under the bill a commission of five, headed by the Secretary of the Treasury, would have authority, subject to the approval of the President, to refund or convert and to extend time of the payment of principal or the interest, or both, of the foreign debt.

SET MATURITY DATE. The date of the maturity of the obligations accepted by the commission could not extend beyond June 31, 1947, and the interest rate could not be less than 4-1/4 per cent. Bonds of one foreign government could not be accepted for those of another, nor could any

EARTH SLIPS OFF CENTER; MANY SHOCKS FOLLOW.

Shifting of Few Million Tons of Rock "Somewhere in Pacific" Jars Seismographs.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The earth, in its whirl through space, got off center a few moments today and shifted its poles, or axis, to fit the center of rotation.

Then, that it might not be traveling on a "flat wheel," so to speak, a few million tons of solid rock, somewhere off the western coast of the United States, in the bed of the Pacific Ocean, slipped a hundred feet or so to even things up. The seismograph record showed a deviation of a millimeter and a half.

Observers here said they could not be certain whether the displacements were horizontal or vertical. In the great San Francisco shock of 1906 the horizontal displacement amounted to about twenty feet.

This is the manner in which professors of geology and seismography explained the violent earth vibrations which damaged instruments in observatories. The exact location of the huge slip has not been determined, although observers from Washington, D. C., to Berkeley, Cal., agree it probably was a few hundred miles off the mouth of the Columbia River.

IN BED OF OCEAN. Absence of a record disruption of the visible surface of the earth or of the huge tidal waves which usually radiate from the scene of an earthquake, lead observers to believe that the "slip" occurred miles below the bed of the ocean. Its violence was attested by the quivering seismographs, which in some instances were thrown from their bases by the "strong" jolts.

Mrs. Asquith Reads Diaries to New York Audience. Midst Verbal Battle With Gallery Gods.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Margot Asquith, wife of the former British Premier, read from her published and unpublished diaries this afternoon in the New American Theater and exchanged words, sympathies at first and then something, with persons in the galleries who commented they could not hear.

Mrs. Asquith, who had been seen on the rough voyage to this country, was not strong enough to stand.

"We can't hear you," kept on coming from the gallery occupants with the regularity of a minute gun.

CAUSES LAUGHTER. "You're not missing anything," said Mrs. Asquith, and a great deal of laughter came from the front rows.

The strongest of the voices in the galleries called out: "Good-by. You got my money for nothing. Good-by."

Mrs. Asquith paid no attention to this interruption.

"The next reading will be something entirely different," Mrs. Asquith announced and there was some applause.

Mrs. Asquith told of an American actress she met by accident on a train.

The actress informed Mrs. Asquith what she knew from reliable people about Premier Asquith, who was then in office, and his wife. She declared Asquith had acquired enormous wealth through investing in Krupp.

He had been a good man, but his wife had ruined his career. His daughter was engaged to an admiral in the German navy and regularly informed her fiancé of the contemplated movements of the British fleet.

Mrs. Asquith was the one living woman who did not "feel" the war. She spent her leisure playing tennis with the German prisoners. She was one of the ugliest women known—hard, artificial but enormously clever.

She revealed herself to the American crowd who repeated in tremendous consternation. Mrs. Asquith even had her tea to meet the Premier.

FIVE I.W.W. PRISONERS FREE AGAIN

Convicted Under Syndicalism Act, Paroled Recently from San Quentin.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31.—Five convicted I.W.W. leaders recently paroled from San Quentin prison, according to George H. Hudson, formerly an operative of the Department of Justice, and now connected with the San Joaquin Valley Protective Association, with headquarters in Fresno.

He said he received a letter from the warden of the prison telling of the parole of the men.

Hudson, who is in Sacramento as a witness in the trial of an I.W.W. charged with violating the syndicalism act, declared the parole of the radicals is a blow to the breaking up of the radical organizations in California.

The prisoners paroled by the State prison board are: C. F. Bentley, who was secretary and district organizer at Stockton and was convicted in February, 1918.

Thomas H. Harker, who was convicted at Stockton in April, 1918, and who was a delegate and State organizer.

James McElroy, who was convicted at Stockton in December, 1917, and who was secretary at San Francisco and was convicted in January, 1920.

Secretary Weeks sent letters to the families residing here of the seven War Department employees who were killed in the catastrophe and personal letters of condolence to those not living in the city.

The City Commission today turned over its investigation of the disaster to Col. Charles Keller, engineer commissioner, and the building inspector's office. The Federal grand jury and the coroner's jury visited the ruins of the theater today and it was announced they would conduct thorough investigations to determine, if possible, the cause of the accident and whether any individual was to blame.

BONUS BILL ADVANCED.

Immediate Action Urged in Hearing; American Legion Plea is Heard.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Discussion of the long-pending soldier bonus bill was renewed today. Before the House Ways and Means Committee, which by agreement of Republican leaders in Congress reopened hearings, officers of organizations of former service men urged immediate action on the bill and, in reply to questions, said that the problem of raising the necessary funds was one for Congress to solve, but had no provision for raising funds.

In offering his amendment, Senator Simmons declared that when he had proposed the bonus bill as an amendment to the tax revision measure, he had been told it was the desire of the majority to act on the bonus in connection with the debt refunding bill; but now the Republicans had decided that the bonus measure should be acted upon separately.

MCCORMICK'S ARGUMENT. Opposing the amendment, Chairman McCormick of the Finance Committee, declared it was his intention to bring the bonus bill to the floor in the House, because it would be a revenue-raising measure and that every one knew adjusted compensation legislation would be soon enacted. He deprecated what he called the injection of party politics into the question and said he objected to adding the bonus to the debt bill.

PROVISION OF AMENDMENT. The amendment would have provided that the bonus be paid out of the interest on the foreign debt and that if this should prove insufficient the Secretary of the Treasury should issue certificates of indebtedness to be redeemed out of future interest payments, or with the approval of the President, to sell as much of the foreign bonds as might be necessary.

Later the Senate rejected, 62 to 31, an amendment by Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, which carried the five-way plan.

READY FOR TREATIES.

Plenary Session Today.

Five-Power Naval and Submarine Pacts to be Presented at Meeting.

Chinese and Japanese Virtually Complete Drafting of Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Preparations to present publicly the five-power naval and submarine treaties at tomorrow's opening of the Arms Conference were completed in committee today after British and French delegates again had indulged in a sharp exchange over the submarine issue.

Japanese and Chinese about completed their drafting of the treaty by which shantung is to be restored to China and it was expected the agreement would be formally written into the book of conference accomplishments at tomorrow's public meeting.

Despite the British-French tilt, the naval committee of the whole quickly approved the two treaties by which the powers agree to limit their capital ship sea power and to impose certain restrictions on their use of submarines. At the public session the treaties are to be read into the record and each delegation head is to deliver an address expressing his government's approval.

SUBMARINE DECLARATIONS. Until the last minute it had been undecided whether the submarine declarations and the accompanying resolution condemning use of poison gas in warfare should be in the form of a treaty, or left in the form of a protocol not requiring ratification. Expressions at the committee meetings, however, are said to have revealed a preponderance of opinion in favor of the latter course.

In their final agreement, tonight, the Japanese and Chinese accepted in substance the proposal suggested by President Harding, providing that the "Treaty-Tenets" Navy will be limited by the same rules and paid for with treasury bonds and that two Japanese officials be included in the operating committee during the period of negotiation.

The agreement on Japanese participation in the road's management provides that there shall be a Japanese traffic manager and that one of the two chief engineers shall be Japanese and the other Chinese. All of these officials, however, are under the authority of a Chinese manager.

ANGLO-FRENCH CLASH. The sudden flare-up over the retention of submarines in navy came as an unexpected feature of today's naval committee session and led to a heated exchange between the British and the French in intensity of feeling the exchange which took place when the session first came before the conference.

Ambassador Jusserand took the lead for the French. Lord Curzon, the British ambassador, brought the subject to the fore by announcing he had received information from France that a naval officer, Capt. Caillaux, of the French navy seemed to indicate a French policy of unrestricted submarine warfare.

Jusserand declared Lord Curzon had said that Capt. Caillaux was "a man of the old school" and that he "was not quite sure" if he was not quite sure in France. Moreover, he added, "the public character of the German submarine."

NEGRO SLAYS POLICEMAN.

Boston Gun Wielder Holds Reserves at Bay in Gun Battle; Is Captured by Strategy.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Henry Murray, a 22-year-old negro, who stood off fifty policemen for more than an hour early today in a gun battle that centered around his home, spent tonight in jail, charged with the murder of Detective Daniel McGlathie. The policeman, shot by the negro from a window of his stronghold, died at a hospital. Two hundred shots are estimated to have been fired before Murray was captured.

William Jackson, a negro, who occupied the same house, and Julia Scott, a resident of the neighborhood, were in hospital tonight suffering from bullet wounds and a 3-month-old baby was suffering from burns sustained while on its bed in an upper room of the house.

The fire, which nearly consumed the mattress, is believed to have been caused by powder blowing from Murray's revolver.

HEATED WITH WOMAN. The trouble started when a woman who left the house to tell the police Murray had threatened to shoot her. McGlathie and three other policemen returned with her. They found the door barred and Murray shouted an invitation to come to a widow.

WILLIE HOPPE OUT TO REGAIN LOST LAURELS.
Deposed 18.2 Billiard Champion's Downfall is Laid to Too Much Swimming.

BY LOUIS LEE ARMER.
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Willie Hoppe lost his 18.2 billiard title in November, but hopes to have it back by April. However, he is not depending on hope. Six mornings a week he may be found practicing in a Broadway room, one part of which has been curtained off for his use and that of his "sparring partner," Charlie Peterson of St. Louis. Peterson is the world's champion fancy-shot billiardist.

On the ex-champion's invitation we dropped in to see him the other day. Their part of the room was quiet as a monastery. Hoppe and Pete were hard at it. The ex-champion had just passed the 200 mark in a run that went finally to 425. He stopped when he missed a bank-ball draw. But it was a pretty fair run.

It is an unfortunate and irritating thing about billiard games that in its highest state it is monotonous. Such uncommon control over these spheres of ivory as Hoppe demonstrates is, to be sure, marvelous. But in the end because of this very perfection it is fatiguing to the average man. The technique of a concert pianist is not more faceted than that of Hoppe driving the ivory precisely in and out of balls for a run that lasts into the hundreds.

While the ex-champion was beginning another long solo the genial Peterson is an undertone gave us the low-down on Hoppe's recent defeat by young Jake Schaefer. Pete, who is a prosperous room-keeper in St. Louis, has trained Hoppe for a decade. He knows the ex-champion's game, his moods and his temperament like a book. Some years ago some of us used to observe that when Hoppe was in form Pete's smile was nothing short of facial gymnastics; but at Bill fell off a bit and his balmy trainer exhibited the quick alarm of an excitable, young mother.

"Swimming," said he, declared Pete in an accusing undertone. It was evident that Pete didn't think much of the amphibious life.

SHOULDER BOUND.
"We noticed it first in 1920," he continued. "Willie spent his vacation at Sea Girt and became a swimming bug. We found that fall he had developed muscles that tended to make his shoulder bound. Suppleness and perfect muscular control are necessary to championship billiards. Those of us who were near him knew that he was off form in spite of which he went through the national tournament successfully. "He went back to Sea Girt and swimming again last summer. When we started on our fall tour when something was amiss, he complained of a slight pain across his chest. We thought that before the national tournament he would be able to work his muscles loose. But the illness and death of his father overtook his practice and when he went into the national championship in Chicago he was depending mainly on nerve and experience."

"As such he put up a marvelous fight coming from behind and winning five games on sheer courage. But he was badly off form. He had no high run and, for him, a poor average. "COULDN'T CONCENTRATE."
"Hoppe's game has always been about 50 per cent concentration. Those of us who saw him defeat Maurice Vignaux of Paris years ago, when he was in his teens have never ceased to marvel at the remarkable way in which he became oblivious to everything except the work at hand. "This ability to concentrate has been one of his greatest assets in competitive play. In Chicago he couldn't concentrate. He had hurried to Chicago to care for his father during his fatal illness, and the shock coming so near the tournament left its mark on him."

HEDDON IS PEEVED; QUILTS TOURNAMENT.

(BY A. P. HUGHES WIRE.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Charles Heddon, of Dowagiac, Mich., present champion, withdrew from the national amateur class A 18.2 billiard championship tournament at the Crescent Athletic Club, Brooklyn, today. His reason was given as due to acts on the part of Edward Gardner, former holder of the title, in the match last night in which Heddon was defeated 193 to 300.

He is said to regard the action of Gardner in not remaining in his chair quietly while his opponent was at the table as highly unethical. Heddon left late today for Detroit.

Farrell Given Decision Over Bert Colima.

Bert Colima celebrated his reappearance at Vernon after an eight months' absence by losing to Marty Farrell of New York. At least that was the way the judges saw it. To the ordinary observer it looked like a crime to call it anything but a draw. If anybody had the edge it was Colima, but the wise boys apparently forgot all about these when they handed in the slips.

The semi-wind-up between Chick Roach and Harry Casey was a rough-and-tumble argument that went to Roach, although Casey was the rougher of the two. Jack Dempsey also was introduced.

The preliminary bouts resulted as follows: Tod Moran, decision over Johnny McManus; Ralph Lincoln, decision over Baby Blue; Herb Ryan, decision over Jimmy Kramer; Frank Smith, decision over Sailor Victrola; and Ralph Meyers, decision over Billy Nisbet.

YACHT CLUB'S GOING STRONG.

Athletic Club to Build in About Three Weeks.

Big Benefits to City Seen as World Center.

Plans for the new yacht club sponsored by the Los Angeles Athletic Club are rapidly taking form. Architect Bergstrom has prepared sketches and drawings that indicate what the temporary quarters at Wilmington will look like, and these plans are being studied by the directors with the view of making them as complete and artistic as possible.

The Harbor Commission is taking an active interest, and as the plans have finally to be submitted to it for approval, the club took time by the forelock and asked criticism in advance. Mr. Richards, Chief Engineer Vincent, visited the harbor Monday with a committee of L.A.A.C. directors to look over the general situation.

A number of improvements have been worked out as a result of this conference, one of which very materially benefits the approach to the new clubhouse. Architect Bergstrom promises to begin actual construction work in about three weeks and the plant will be ready for occupancy before the summer season sets in.

Funds up to $50,000 are now available for construction purposes. It is thought this amount will furnish services needed until the club can develop its outer harbor holdings, which it probably be in a little over a year.

HOT SHOTS BY WILLIAMS.

may prove to be horrible examples to the rising generation of football players. Some of the latter are likely to decide that being an active participant on a smaller team is preferable to warming the turf near the water bucket for some renowned variety as a hopeful non-combatant.

On my desk is a letterhead bearing the title, "James W. Orendorff, Producer Company." And you will find him listed in the motion-picture magazines as a producer.

Thereby hangs a story of a professional athlete who has made good in another line on a large scale, putting it in the class of the unusual. Unfortunately, as a rule, the professional athlete, when the curtain is rung down on his career, finds himself unfitted for any other line.

Orendorff several years ago was a catcher for the Los Angeles club. Mechanically, he wasn't so much, and he didn't have an arm that could compete with a howitzer, and to the crowd, who for the most part sees only the high lights, he was little more than an ordinary performer. Baseball men, however, always rated him as an exceptionally smart catcher, whose brains more than offset a rather indifferent technique.

When Nagle would pitch to no catcher except Orendorff could it be avoided. And Jess has since proved that he had something stored away under his lid.

He made a success of the real estate business, and his "Letters of a Bushier," written about a year ago, would have done credit to a professional pen wielder.

However, his most astounding plunge was the one he made recently into the shadow world of the cinema. Without previous experience, and limited resources, he rented studio space, hired himself a cameraman and produced a film entitled "Reversibility and Relativity." This film was an instant success, and only the other day sold for $20,000, with the foreign rights yet to be disposed of.

"Reversibility and Relativity" puts Prof. Einstein's theory on the screen successfully for the first time. Orendorff proved that he is just as smart in this game as he was in baseball by employing as his associate and director Delmar A. Whitson, regarded as a budding Edison and one of the few men who have mastered the Einstein ideas. They are now engaged in making four more pictures under contract to Louis B. Mayer Productions.

This successful plunge of a green hand into an industry right at a time when that industry was up on its hind legs hollering for help probably is without precedent. At least it is out of the ordinary.

Had not Jack Lively all but killed Orendorff with a pitched ball, practically terminating his career, he probably still would be sticking around in baseball as a coach, manager or one of the game's many supernumeraries. That blow on the head stretched Orendorff senseless for a month, but apparently didn't knock all the bright ideas out of his bonnet.

Spike Hennessey, sidekick of Al G. Waddell, is wild over Abe Roth's assertion that the last dodo killed the last ephru, making both birds extinct.

"Not only is the ephru alive, but it is exceedingly well," declared Mr. Hennessey. "The ephru, or pheu bird, as it is known in Montana, still runs the Arctic regions in great circles, and it is the reflection from the ephru's brilliant foliage which produces what is known as the Aurora Borealis. The ephru is the only bird in the world with an Adam's apple, which is particularly prominent because of its long, lean neck. It looks as though it had started to swallow an indoor baseball and then quit at the halfway mark. When the Eskimos tire of a diet of seal blubber they round up the ephrus in long rows and pick the apples."

POLO APPEALS TO TURF FANS.

Sport of Kings Holds Many Thrills for Devotees.

Thoroughbred Seeds Are Selected With Care.

Big Season Will Open in the Southland This Month.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

The followers of the thoroughbred who have been denied their sport for many years in California have a treat in store for them very shortly, when the big polo tournaments are sprung in and around Los Angeles. The polo pastime is a cheering substitute for horse racing and this fact is never better manifested than when one witnesses a contest of the smallest warriors.

In the last few years there has been a decided tendency to improve the breed of ponies that are used on the polo fields. Even now many of the horses have fashionable pedigrees and the ingenuity of many breeders has been tasked to the limit to spring crossings that will produce a happy combination of speed, endurance and sagacity in the polo thoroughbred.

USED TO GAME.

According to Carleton F. Burke, who is not only one of the best polo players in America, but also a great enthusiast, it requires two or three years to train a pony up to that fitness where he becomes used to the game, will display cunning, and follow the ball. One of the principal things required of a good horse is stamina, for the animal is in strenuous action from the moment play begins.

Such steeds can go at top speed for about seven and a half minutes. The polo player then mounts a fresh pony during the one and a half minutes intermission. As there are eight periods of play and the horses are changed at each period, the pony that is used in the first period can be used again at the beginning of the fourth. It is a remarkable fact that a good, well-bred polo pony can go through seven minutes of tenacious action. When it is taken into consideration that a bucking broncho is usually all exhausted at the end of seventeen seconds when ridden by a cowboy, the polo steed's endurance stands out all the more when comparisons are made.

WELL BRED.
The small cow ponies that used to be used in years past on the polo fields are being supplanted by larger horses, many of which reach fifteen and a half hands high. Most of the ponies now in use are three-quarters bred or better. They display courage, gameness and sturdiness. Horses without any blood may run well, but the real artist must have good breeding to stick the route.

As we have already said, the desired race-track habitus can get a thrill out of polo because his interest is aroused the minute play begins by a rush down the long field of two animals nose and nose stretched to the limit to reach the ball first. It takes the place of a research brush on the turf proper, and is almost as exciting. Then of a sudden two horses wheel around the far end of the field like the turn on a race track and come toward one in thundering strides with distended nostrils.

RALEIGH TEAM PLAYS SATURDAY
West Indian Soccerites to Appear at Vernon.
Will Hook Up With Sons of St. George Eleven.
Local Squad Likely to Give Sailors Tough Rub.
New faces will greet local soccer fans at Maier Park, Vernon, Saturday afternoon when the soccer team from H.M.S. Raleigh, champions of the British West Indies squadron, and also of the North American squadron, meets the local Sons of St. George. A silver loving cup will be the prize.
The game will mark the first appearance of the British jacks in local soccer. Their jacks, however, are not wholly unknown to followers of the sport here.
The Britishers have played exhibition games with several strong eleven on the Pacific Coast, both in America and in Canada, and in these contests they have acquitted themselves admirably.
Vancouver, B. C., and Esquimalt sent their best against them, only to taste defeat. The Olympic Club of San Francisco, one of the strongest clubs on the Coast, met a better fate, holding them to a three-goal tie.
Against a team that has been plowing through such strong opposition the Sons should find the going hard. The local squad have been playing admirable soccer, and will undoubtedly strive to be the first to administer defeat to the invaders.

WALTER TRAVIS HERE TO GOLF.
Liked? And—when if statement only paid proper attention to their golf, they wouldn't have time to involve the world in any wars. Ask him if he is interested in the Einstein theory—and you will find that he is, as strictly applied to golf. A proper application of the Einstein theory should evolve a perfect hooked-drive for the dog-leg hole.
Ask him if he does not consider the short skirts the women are wearing are just a little more than a little too short, and he will smile that if a woman is ever to play golf at all, she had best leave her skirts off altogether.
As for modern religion, all the way from sun worship to Science and Health—he believes that the best fundamentals of them all are embodied in golf. Play golf, play it right, play it with honor—and you can never be sick, never be wicked. And incidentally, if you don't play golf, what manner of person are you anyway?
Walter J. Travis is a but looks like a cold steel college professor of the adamantly stern variety who has no use for fools. When he won all those glamorous honors in the game he was past 40 and shone at his height till high upon 10. He can still lick pretty well all comers. He plays all day and every day on the various courses in the vicinity and has his matches booked up some ahead. But he has outgrown tournaments. He must pick his opponents and they must ever be worthy of his steel.

DEMON STATISTICIAN FINDS MORE GOLF BALLS ARE LOST IN MIAMI THAN ELSEWHERE.
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
MIAMI (Fla.) Jan. 31.—More golf balls are lost in Miami, Fla., every winter than in any other spot on the map, enterprising statisticians have figured. Not because Miami is congested with golfers, who don't keep their "eye on the ball," but golf balls are among the most elusive things in the world and Miami has four of the finest courses in the country to swallow them up when the caddies nap.
When the snow begins to fly up north the tired business man casts a loving glance at the old sticks in the corner and presently he's out on the links in Miami. It is estimated that 30,000 dollars of the sport leave their footprints on Miami greens every winter.
Numbered among these 30,000 are amateur champions and professionals, millionaires and society leaders and the wives of many of them.
GULFPORT VISITOR.
James Guilford of Boston, who won the national amateur championship in St. Louis last fall, is a recent arrival and a regular visitor to the Miami Beach Club course.
Among the professionals who visit their game for the big tournaments is Lee Nelson of Indianapolis, who pokes around the course in 72 for the eighteen holes.
Lee, by the way, has five brothers, all professionals, who drop down during the winter to trim or be trimmed. Gene Sarazen, youthful professional from Bridgeport, Ct., does the course in 67, which ties the record. He is closely pressed by J. B. Hodge and Dave Spittal, New York "pros."

NORTHERN QUINTETS HAVE EDGE
Pacific Northwest Likely to Carry Off 1922 Conference Basketball Title.
(BY A. P. MONT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Basketball championship honors of the Pacific Coast Conference for 1922 probably will rest in the Pacific Northwest, as northern members of the organization last week turned back an invasion by Stanford University and University of California fans.
University of Washington's Vikings, with eight victories and no defeats, led at this date, as if they will sweep unchecked toward the title. They are tied, however, by the University of Idaho, which has won four and lost none. According to the present schedule, Idaho and Washington do not meet.
Games between state rivals will be played next Friday and Saturday. The meeting of Stanford at Stanford; Washington State playing Washington at Seattle and the Oregon Agricultural College meeting the University of Oregon at Eugene.

Dancing Too Popular at Skoki Club.
(BY A. P. MONT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Hogs versus dancing as adjuncts of golf clubs came into the discussion at the recent meeting of the greens committee of the United States Golf Association—and the hogs won favor among the delegates.
T. T. Kane of the Skoki Club, Chicago, where the national open championship will be played next summer, declared that the budget of his club called for $11,000 this year and that only $17,000 of that was awarded to him for upkeep of the course, while dancing and other social activities would take much of the rest.

THE HIGHEST TRIBUTE

A piece of machinery—that is what a motor car really is; but few owners like to think of their cars as machinery, so the ideal car must be an efficient piece of mechanism—so efficient that it withdraws attention from its faithful service by the very faithfulness of that service. What higher tribute could be paid to a motor car!

MEANS TO STAY.

MOROSCO SAYS HE'LL MAKE PRODUCTIONS HERE.

By Grace Kingsley.

If you know of anybody who has some "Home Sweet Home" signs for sale, you can probably sell them to Oliver Morosco, theatrical producer. Because Mr. Morosco says that not only is he glad to be at home again, but that what's more he means to stay. He will remain until the first of September, when he will return to New York for but a short stay. He has been here for a week, but has been so busy making plans that he had no time to talk of them.

Mr. Morosco is to make all his future productions here, he promises with right hand raised, and will shoot the successful ones to New York from Los Angeles, just as he used to do in the good old days of "Lombardi, Ltd.," and the others. Also he expects to bring a number of stars west.

And he has plans for producing a large number of new plays. Included is a new one by Mrs. Nichols, who has likewise just arrived from New York.

Miss Nichols' husband, James Duffy, is also among the present. The new Nichols play is called "Able's Irish Rose."

The star of the play, if present negotiations do not go astray, will be Barney Barnard. In this play Mr. Morosco has much faith. He says it is quaint with a serious love interest, and with this description we must be content until it is shown to us.

Some big plans for Frank Egan's Little Theater are likewise under way. This theater is to be made a real Little Theater of the recognized de luxe type, inasmuch as Mr. Morosco and Mr. Egan are here to produce a number of brilliant short-cast plays by well-known authors.

It is likely that this house will become a subscription project, as is the case with the Community Theater of Hollywood.

Dealing with old Spanish days is a new play by Mrs. Fremont Older, entitled, "The Madonna of Monterey." It is of the romantic type like "The Rose of the Rancho."

"The Madonna of Monterey" will be produced at the Mason, as will other of the new Morosco plays, in case open time can be found at that house. "Able's Irish Rose" is to be housed at the Morosco.

Musical comedy is on the books for Morosco production also. "Sleepy Time" is the name of the new musical show, with book by Paul Dickson and music by Raymond Hubbell, while "Love Dreams," adapted from the play, "A Gilded Cage," with book by Mr. Morosco himself and music by Werner Janssen, is another musical show.

Charlotte Greenwood is out of "Let Her Go, Letty," and is now rehearsing a musical version of "Maggie Pepper," for which Werner Janssen has written the music. Miss Greenwood and "Maggie Pepper" will be out on the Coast this summer.

"There are just two theatrical production centers in this country," said Mr. Morosco, "they are New York and Los Angeles. I think the Los Angeles activities are going to grow tremendously within the next few years."

Mr. Morosco contracted a severe cold a day or two ago, and says he isn't going to get down seriously to business for a few weeks.

Marie and Harry to Wed.
One of Cupid's favorite haunts seems to be the Hal E. Roach studios. The newest matrimonial announcement is to the effect that no less effulgent stars than Marie Mosquini and Harry Pollard will be united in the solemn words that will make them one.

The engagement announcement, which was made by the pair Monday afternoon on their set, follows a long friendship which began at the Hal E. Roach studios dating from the time Marie Mosquini did small bits in Harold Lloyd over-reels.

Long before Miss Mosquini ever dreamed of being a leading lady or Harry Pollard a comedy star the two met at various parties and also appeared in showpieces together. Two years ago last November, when Hal Roach formed the Snub Pollard company, he placed Miss Mosquini opposite the comedian as his leading lady.

It does seem as if two people who can live through the troubles and ups and downs of 104 days together ought to be able to get along together in domestic life if anybody could, and that is the exact number in which the two have played.

Mr. Pollard and Miss Mosquini plan to be married in about three months and will take their honeymoon trip to Australia, where the comedian's parents are living in Melbourne. The trip will consume about two months and, following this, they will return to the film colony at Hollywood, where Mr. Pollard will build a home on Highland avenue.

"No, I shall not retire from pictures," said Miss Mosquini yesterday. "I have worked with Mr. Pollard in all of his comedies and I want to do my bit in his branching out. I want to share in and contribute to his success."

According to his last contract, just signed, the comedian is to be graduated from one-reelers to two-reel comedies.

Edna Purviance a Star.
Charlie Chaplin is going to launch off still farther as a picture producer. His new star is to be no less a person than his present leading woman, Edna Purviance.

As soon as Chaplin completes work on his current picture for United Artists he is going to launch Miss Purviance as an independent star. This has long been in his mind, and it is understood that he takes great interest in the project.

Miss Purviance has been Chaplin's leading woman during the past seven or eight years. She has had many offers to head independent starring companies, but has steadfastly refused to leave Mr. Chaplin.

"Mr. Chaplin made me," said Miss Purviance to me once, "and I shall certainly leave him until he is entirely willing I should go."

The comedian was evidently appreciative of Miss Purviance's loyalty.

No official announcement of Chaplin's plans in regard to Miss Purviance have yet been made, but it is understood that she is to have every facility for making a success.

Plans are not yet fully formulated, and it is not yet known whether

TING-A-LING!... TING-A-LING!

The Comedy Wedding Bells Are Jingling.

By Edwin Schallert.

Rainy weather notwithstanding the Vitaphone studios are having a spell of activity. Four new productions were started during the week, one of which will take rank as a costume drama. This is "The Shaugraun," based on the play by Dion Boucicault, who appeared in the original presentation some years ago at the Drury Lane Theater in London.

The principal roles in "The Shaugraun" are to be portrayed by Pauline Starke and Pat O'Malley. The feature will be directed by David Smith. It is laid in the Ireland of fifty or sixty years ago.

In addition to this, work has been started on a Richard Harding Davis story. The title is "Parkington's Widow." Earle Williams appears in the star part, and Francis Billington and Arthur Hoyt are in the cast. Bert Emminger will direct.

Edward Jose has about completed his cast for his second Vitaphone film since his arrival on the Coast, and will start "shooting" in a few days. Larry Semon is to commence a new comedy.

William Duncan has practically completed "Man Hunters," which has been filming for the past several weeks.

CAST "DICTATOR."
A list of noted players has been announced for the new picture in which Wallace Reid will star under the direction of James Cruze, "The Dictator."

Lila Lee is leading woman; Theodore Kosloff has a highly important role; Kalla Paasha, a Mack Sennett comedienne, is cast in an appropriate part; Alan Hale, semi-heavy of "One Glorious Day" and Walter Long, heavy actor in "The Shell" and "Woman of the Year," two George Melford productions—are included in character parts, and Fred Butler and Helen Bracey will appear.

The "Dictator" is from Willie Collier's stage success. The original was by the late Richard Harding Davis.

Work will start shortly on the production and a location will be the scene of activity at the beginning of it.

Music and Plays.
Basil Ruydard, basso, formerly with the Metropolitan in New York; H. Ewing, solo "cellist," and Ruth Miller, soprano, will present a musical program for Gamut Club dinner. Following this, three one-act plays, to which the public will be admitted for the first time, will be put on by well-known players.

Celli Solos.
Ilya Bronson, "cellist of the Philharmonic orchestra, is to be soloist on the symphony program to be given Friday afternoon and Saturday evening. His number will be the Volkmann Concerto for Violoncello in A Minor, Opus 32.

The symphony for this concert will be the Brahms No. 3 in F Major. The remaining selections will be Tchaikovsky's Overture "1812."

Migrating to West.
The Selsnick picture units will arrive at the United studios within six or eight weeks, according to announcement made by M. C. Levee, president of the studio corporation, yesterday. This means that one of the largest organizations hitherto functioning in the East will be in the West.

Mr. Levee stated that he had heard from Myron Selsnick yesterday, and that the company was preparing for the removal westward.

Chaplin Entertains.
Charlie Chaplin has for the past two days been entertaining members of the Pavlova dancing organization at his studios in Hollywood. Day before yesterday Anna Pavlova herself was a visitor and saw comedies in the making. Yesterday a group of the girls from the ballet were at the studio and Charlie entertained by showing them around the plant and relating anecdotes about the King of Belgium and other members of the royalty.

Pavlova Party.
With Mme. Anna Pavlova as guest of honor, Douglas Gerrard as master of ceremonies and Charlie Chaplin as lord high executioner of mirth and laughter, a party was given Monday evening at the Maurice Cafe on Seventh street.

Speeches were made by the various members of the Pavlova company who were present. Mr. Chaplin, too, talked in both English and "Chinee."

"Rent Free"
Strikes Chord of Sympathy.
In these days of high rents and profiteering landlords, "Rent Free," with Wallace Reid as its star, the feature of this week's program at the Garrick, starts an audience off with a happy thought and succeeds in keeping them laughing until the final fade-out.

There is a lively plot and plenty of action, a good deal of which supposedly takes place on the roof of two New York rooming houses. Wallace Reid plays the part of a young artist, who shifts for himself rather than take the study of law in his father's office. Lila Lee plays the leading feminine role, and an excellent cast supports the principals.

Among the other interesting features on the program are "Chums," a splendid comedy with Baby Face as its star, and a series of scenes from the private lives of famous screen stars.

PROBLEM IN MARITAL GRAVITATION SOLVED?
Will water seek its own level, or can a marriage between rich and poor turn out to be a success? This is the question which is answered with all C. B. De Mille's usual lavishness in "Saturday Night," it is said, which is now running for its second week at Grauman's Rialto Theater. Opinions may differ, however. De Mille has built up a drama which runs the gamut of settings from mansion to slum, from smoky gas stoves to society bathing parties.

The cast of "Saturday Night" includes Leatrice Joy, Conrad Nagel, Edith Roberts, Jack Mower, Julia Faye, Edythe Chapman, Theodore Roberts, Sylvia Ashton and many others equally well known.

Accompanying this feature are many special film and musical attractions, and an interpretive score of unusual merit is given by the Rialto orchestra.

"Yep, nerve will get yer any place." In reply, one of the ambitious youngsters wrote: "Yep, I know that. But where can you get it?"

Work will start shortly on the production and a location will be the scene of activity at the beginning of it.

Music and Plays.
Basil Ruydard, basso, formerly with the Metropolitan in New York; H. Ewing, solo "cellist," and Ruth Miller, soprano, will present a musical program for Gamut Club dinner. Following this, three one-act plays, to which the public will be admitted for the first time, will be put on by well-known players.

Celli Solos.
Ilya Bronson, "cellist of the Philharmonic orchestra, is to be soloist on the symphony program to be given Friday afternoon and Saturday evening. His number will be the Volkmann Concerto for Violoncello in A Minor, Opus 32.

The symphony for this concert will be the Brahms No. 3 in F Major. The remaining selections will be Tchaikovsky's Overture "1812."

Migrating to West.
The Selsnick picture units will arrive at the United studios within six or eight weeks, according to announcement made by M. C. Levee, president of the studio corporation, yesterday. This means that one of the largest organizations hitherto functioning in the East will be in the West.

Mr. Levee stated that he had heard from Myron Selsnick yesterday, and that the company was preparing for the removal westward.

Chaplin Entertains.
Charlie Chaplin has for the past two days been entertaining members of the Pavlova dancing organization at his studios in Hollywood. Day before yesterday Anna Pavlova herself was a visitor and saw comedies in the making. Yesterday a group of the girls from the ballet were at the studio and Charlie entertained by showing them around the plant and relating anecdotes about the King of Belgium and other members of the royalty.

Pavlova Party.
With Mme. Anna Pavlova as guest of honor, Douglas Gerrard as master of ceremonies and Charlie Chaplin as lord high executioner of mirth and laughter, a party was given Monday evening at the Maurice Cafe on Seventh street.

Speeches were made by the various members of the Pavlova company who were present. Mr. Chaplin, too, talked in both English and "Chinee."

"Rent Free"
Strikes Chord of Sympathy.
In these days of high rents and profiteering landlords, "Rent Free," with Wallace Reid as its star, the feature of this week's program at the Garrick, starts an audience off with a happy thought and succeeds in keeping them laughing until the final fade-out.

There is a lively plot and plenty of action, a good deal of which supposedly takes place on the roof of two New York rooming houses. Wallace Reid plays the part of a young artist, who shifts for himself rather than take the study of law in his father's office. Lila Lee plays the leading feminine role, and an excellent cast supports the principals.

Among the other interesting features on the program are "Chums," a splendid comedy with Baby Face as its star, and a series of scenes from the private lives of famous screen stars.

PROBLEM IN MARITAL GRAVITATION SOLVED?
Will water seek its own level, or can a marriage between rich and poor turn out to be a success? This is the question which is answered with all C. B. De Mille's usual lavishness in "Saturday Night," it is said, which is now running for its second week at Grauman's Rialto Theater. Opinions may differ, however. De Mille has built up a drama which runs the gamut of settings from mansion to slum, from smoky gas stoves to society bathing parties.

The cast of "Saturday Night" includes Leatrice Joy, Conrad Nagel, Edith Roberts, Jack Mower, Julia Faye, Edythe Chapman, Theodore Roberts, Sylvia Ashton and many others equally well known.

Accompanying this feature are many special film and musical attractions, and an interpretive score of unusual merit is given by the Rialto orchestra.

SOME ONE ANSWER THIS.
A number of freckle-faced youngsters have written William Barry, whose latest starring vehicle is "School Days," asking how they could get into the movies. "All yer need is nerve," advised Wesley. "Yep, nerve will get yer any place." In reply, one of the ambitious youngsters wrote: "Yep, I know that. But where can you get it?"

AUTO THIEVES ARE SENTENCED

Three Jailed in Phoenix
Stole Machine Here.

Mystery Surrounds Abandoned Nebraska Ford.

Constable Fears Foul Play
Has Occurred.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PHOENIX, Jan. 31.—John Nallan, Marlow E. Keller and Anthony Petrillo, an adventure bent, stole a Ford car in Los Angeles and cruised as far as Phoenix. In the United States Court, the three have been sentenced to terms in the County Jail at Prescott, Nallan to serve six months and the others three months. Keller and Petrillo are said to be wanted as deserters from the Navy, in which they were of the crew of the battleship Pennsylvania.

MYSTERY IN FORD.
With features that have similarity to the Knight case, a Ford car of 1917 model has been found deserted in a mountain canyon, near Quartzsite, and a short distance from the through California road. The car has Nebraska license plates. In it were found a copy of a Phoenix newspaper of date November 11, last, the wrapping from a loaf of bread made in Phoenix, a pasteboard box bearing the name of a firm in Benson, and a quantity of clothing. From the evidence, Constable Fred Kuener of Quartzsite, states his belief that the car was occupied by Nebraskaans on their way to California and that foul play has happened. The car was found in good running condition, with plenty of gasoline and oil.

ROBBERIES APPREHENDED.
Casual robbery of an orange grove is believed by local officers to have furnished a clue that has resulted in the arrest of three men, now charged with the spectacular robbery, on the night of January 17, of E. J. McAndrews, a Phoenix druggist. He was overtaken on the road by three men, two of whom jumped from their car to his and robbed him of money and a pistol. The men arrested for the orange grove looting gave their names as D. T. Dorsey, H. E. Briley and Tom Haddon. McAndrews' pistol was found in a room occupied by Haddon and Briley. Later the Overland car in which the men had ridden was identified by McAndrews and also by William Smith, a tire merchant, who had been robbed on North Central avenue.

ANCIENT FEUD DYING.
In Arizona, the lion and lamb do not lie down together, but there is a prospect for a nearer approach of the steer and the lamb. The ancient feud between the cowmen and the sheepmen appears to have died. In the session here of the Arizona Wool Growers' Association was passed a resolution looking toward union that had been invited with the Arizona Cattle Growers' Association, this to be forwarded at the annual meeting in Globe this spring of the latter association.

The sheepmen are not satisfied with the condition of the wool and mutton markets. They have wired Senators Cameron and Ashurst and Representative Hayden, asking imposition of a duty of 25 cents a pound on imported wool. This is to be estimated on a scored basis, with addition of 5 cents a pound on lamb meat and 4 cents on mutton and beef. For several years past the machine shearers have been lords of the situation and have been receiving almost any price asked. These men are professionals, who follow the shearing season from Mexico to Canada and year they are to be paid a maximum price of 10 cents per head sheared, this about half what they have received.

FROST KILLS GRASS.
Much of the time at the local sections was taken up in conference with Will C. Barnes of Washington, Assistant United States Forester, and with officials in charge of the various southwestern forests, in which association members have summer grazing.

Over half the sheep owned by the association members now are feeding on the plains around the Salt River Valley. A few weeks ago, with continued winter rains and with starting grass, conditions were considered the best for years. There has been change within the last few days, with the young grass killed by a series of freezing nights.

CITIES PROVIDE WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED.

BOISE OPENS UP MUNICIPAL WOODYARD; LOS ANGELES
GIVES $2,000,000.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Reports from various localities indicate that the recent reduction in employment has been less than was anticipated. Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the standing committee of the national conference on unemployment, said tonight:

"Many cities," he said, "report that they are appropriating funds in addition to the regular budget, to relieve distress by furnishing employment. Work that otherwise would be delayed until spring or early summer will be started at once."

"Boise, Idaho, has opened a municipal woodyard where wages are not as high as the scale but grocers have pledged themselves to supply food at cost to men who take this work, thereby making the money earned approximate the regular wage."

"St. Paul, under an emergency clause in its charter, is authorized to borrow $100,000 to give employment to men with families for sewer building, bridge repair and snow removal."

Other cities, he said, which have made appropriations for public work, include Los Angeles, $2,000,000.

"TRIBUNE" LIBEL SUIT TESTIMONY IS TAKEN.

HEAR NEW YORK WITNESSES
IN CHICAGO MAYOR'S CASE
AGAINST PAPER.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Two witnesses were examined by Commissioner Thomas W. Henry today at the opening hearing of the $500,000 libel suit brought by William Hale Thompson of Chicago against the Chicago Tribune. They were Albert L. Cronmeyer, former passenger traffic manager of the Hamburg-American line and Roger N. Baldwin, acknowledged Pacific.

The suit is based on articles published in September 1917, referring to Mayor Thompson's action in permitting the People's Committee for Democracy and Terms of Peace to hold meetings after Governor Lowden had prohibited them as "treasonable conduct."

More than twenty witnesses will be called by Commissioner Henry, who was appointed to take testimony here on application of the Tribune in Chicago, where the suit was filed.

Mr. Baldwin, who served nine months for violating the draft law declared he attended the September, 1917 meetings in Chicago and that the committee in charge had received assurances from the mayor that they would be protected and permitted to hold their meetings after the police had halted the first day's session on Gov. Lowden's order. In answer to the mayor's attorneys, the witness declared he had at no time been engaged in propaganda work and had not received money from German sources.

ASTORIA CAR FARES TO GO UP MONDAY.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 31.—Street-car fares in Astoria will be increased from 5 to 7 cents effective Monday, under an order of the State Public Service, which withdrew an order suspending an increase announced by the Astoria Street Railway Company.

Under the commission's ruling the company may sell tickets at 6 cents each in books of fifty, and school tickets at a rate of forty for $1.75.

PLANS BUILDING FOR BROADWAY.

Carlton F. Burke Leases Site for Edifice.

California Music Company to Have New Home.

Store to be Seven Stories; Completion in Year.

Plans for an important Broadway improvement were announced yesterday by Carlton F. Burke, who has leased the property at 100-102 Broadway for a new store for the California Music Company at a total rental of approximately $100,000.

On this property, which is 100 feet, Mr. Burke will erect a modern seven-story and basement store building, the entire structure to be occupied by the music company. Plans for the structure, which is to be completed and ready for occupation about January 1 of next year, have been prepared by Meyer and Holler, the Riverside Building Company.

The building has been designed particularly for the music business, with modern equipment for the convenience of the music-loving public incorporated in the plan. The first three floors will be devoted to the display of musical instruments. The fourth floor will contain the executive and general offices, and the repair department. The three upper floors will be divided into artist's studios, with an attractive recital hall. When finished, this edifice will be one of the largest and finest musical establishments in the United States.

The Southern California Music Company, one of the largest concerns of its kind on the Pacific Coast, was established here in 1910. It was first located on North Main street, but for the last twenty years has occupied its present building at 323-324 South Broadway.

The site of the new home of the music company is at present occupied by a one-story building, which is to be razed in the near future, to make way for the new structure.

Frank J. Hart, president, and G. A. Marygold, vice-president of the concern, stated yesterday that they had given the matter of the selection of a new location careful consideration for several months. After a thorough investigation, according to Mr. Hart, the Burke property was selected, on account of the fact that it is in the center of the shopping district of the city, in the principal thoroughfare and in the midst of a great development.

The negotiations were handled by Ned E. Johnson of the commercial real estate department of W. A. Heitman Company.

RUSH WORK OF RESCUE ON FROZEN HILL ROAD.

Half Dozen Parties Still Battle to Reach the Marooned Motorists; Fair Weather is Expected.

The work of rescue of automobilists stranded along the Ridge Route north and west of Los Angeles was continued yesterday by a half-dozen parties from Los Angeles and from the northern entrance to the Tehachapi Mountains from Bakersfield.

By last night nearly 200 persons had been rescued from their machines, stalled in damp, clinging snow, packed about the running boards.

The suffering of the tourists from lack of food and warmth had been great, but thus far no serious results were reported, even to the women and children.

However, the rescue work proceeds with unabated determination, for a long stretch of the mountain road, that between Sandberg and Lebec, remains untraversed by the relief parties. That part of the road, running nearly east and west, is swept by a high, cold wind, and it is possible some automobilist parties have come to grief there.

The snow on the flat two or three feet high and piled in drifts higher than a man's head, was deepened yesterday. Snow clouds hovered over the southern end of the mountain road. County Forester Flintham in an airplane from Rogers airport attempted to inspect the situation from the skies, but the airplane turned back upon reaching the pass a few miles above Saugus. It was impossible to continue because of the snowstorm, which appeared to cover all of the southern end of the Tehachapi.

The storm, which had showered the mountains with snow as it descended Los Angeles in rain, had ended yesterday as far as this city was concerned. Fair weather was the prediction for Los Angeles today. The rainfall here was .23 of an inch in the last twenty-four hours ending yesterday at 5 p.m., 2.91 inches for the storm and 13.33 inches for the season to date. Last season at this date the rainfall was 6.18 inches.

SNOWSHOES IN USE.

The rescue workers, some on snowshoes where vehicles could not pass, worked like Alpine monks with their provision packs on their backs and mountain staves in their hands. Each of the several parties sent out by the Automobile Club of Southern California was equipped with blankets, foodstuffs as follows: Two cases of soups, two cases of canned milk, one case of corn beef, one case of crackers and an ample supply of coffee. Whenever a stranded automobile was found the workers first melted snow and made strong, steaming coffee.

would take a running start at the banks of snow.

The snow is near the melting point and thus is heavy and difficult to handle. But the heavy trucks managed to clear several miles of the road and will proceed north until they encounter the other road-clearing gangs operating near the summit.

FIFTY ARE RESCUED.

All except a few of the party of fifty stranded in the forest ranger's cabin near Tejon Summit have been taken to the hotel at Lebec. A few of the men remained because they wished to look after their automobiles, some of which are almost covered with snow. In all there are about 100 refugees in the Lebec Hotel.

It was reported last night that some had suffered serious injury from the exposure. Two stages filled with passengers had been snowed in seven miles north of the National Forest Inn, on the southern section of the road, and these were taken to the inn, which, like the Lebec Hotel, is fast filling to capacity.

Other parties, in all numbering more than 100, were found on the northern and southern sections of the Ridge Route, their automobiles turned about and if in running order sent down the grade.

LINEMEN BUSY.

While the rescue work is going on, another party over whom an equally important task that of clearing the telephone lines which connect Los Angeles with Bakersfield. The main line of the Southern California Telephone Company has been out of commission since Sunday, and the linemen, on snowshoes and bundled in fur coats, are unraveling the wires, snarled by the wind, weight of the snow and the blows of falling trees. The worst break in the line is below Sandberg. It is hoped to have the line open some time today. In the meantime Bakersfield is reached by only one roundabout connection.

One party snowbound in the mountains is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley Macomber of Long Beach; Mrs. Nina Ramsey and Charles R. Drake of Long Beach. They left Los Angeles Sunday morning to go to Tipton, where Mr. Macomber has a ranch.

Another party over whom great concern is held is made up of Thomas Givoney of Long Beach, E. H. Darnore of 1850 Fifth avenue, Los Angeles, and William Roberts of Long Beach. Messrs. Givoney and Roberts are employees of the Long Beach engineering department and they were bound for Elizabeth Lake.

Rescue parties started out by the Automobile Club of Southern California Monday afternoon were within about thirty miles of each

BATTLE ON FRUIT TEST DUE TODAY.

First Hearing Bearing on State Ruling to be Held at San Bernardino.

First gun in the move to make a test of the State regulation as to shipments of treated citrus fruit will be fired this morning when the case of C. M. Brown and J. L. Langford of Redlands will come before Justice McWay in San Bernardino. It is expected that a writ of habeas corpus will be issued to block the hearings, and being the issue directly into the superior court.

Attorney E. E. Latham of the State Department of Agriculture arrived at San Bernardino last night and said the State authorities welcome an opportunity to get a real test of the matter. If the so-called crystal test is of as value as said, they want to know it. But they feel after exhaustive experiments that it is a sure test. If it is, it means that all shippers must go back to the old drying process which will require ten days or two weeks to determine whether fruit is suitable for shipment or not.

Additional warrants were issued yesterday by San Bernardino county authorities on complaint of county inspectors. Charges were filed against John Cleghorn of Highland, L. E. Johnson of West Highland and H. B. Chase of Riverside. The disposal of these cases will depend on the outcome of the test to be made in the Redlands case, it is expected.

Rope Figures in Complaint for Divorce.

One morning when Mrs. Hannah Macbeth awoke, she says, she found a rope under her husband's pillow and being of an inquisitive nature, she asked Ernest Macbeth what it was for.

"There's no sense around here needs hanging and I think I'll do it," she says she replied. Mrs. Macbeth understood the husband to mean her, so yesterday she sued for divorce, charging brutality. According to the complaint filed by Attorney William T. Bunker, the couple were married in Oakland in 1914 and separated Jan. 30, 1922.

SKULL FRACTURED.

Forty-four-year-old John M. Jensen of 2430 East Third was yesterday fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Opal Wilson of 4414 Hill Place. Jensen was treated in the Redwood Hospital for a fracture of the skull and other injuries. According to the police, Mr. Jensen was struck down while attempting to cross at First and Pickett streets and the accident was unavoidable.

Three Special Trains to Bring Montana, Utah and Idaho Winter Travelers.

Three special trains will arrive here tomorrow loaded with about 400 tourists from Montana, Idaho and Utah. These trains are being operated by the Union Pacific system and reinaugurate the winter tourist business, which had reached substantial proportions before the World War. The three trains will be the first to arrive in Los Angeles with exclusive tourist passengers since early in 1918, it was stated by Union Pacific officials.

The travelers start from Twin Falls and Pocatello, Idaho, and Salt Lake, Utah. Both trains will be picked up at various points along the route until Salt Lake City is reached, from there the trains will be operated as limited through services.

The trains will originate on the Oregon Short Line and will use that road to Salt Lake. Both trains are now part of the Union Pacific system.

Three trains will be operated, according to Union Pacific passenger officials. The first will arrive Thursday about 10 a.m., and the other two that afternoon. They will be composed exclusively of sleepers, both standard and tourist.

The tourists on the trains all have round-trip tickets good for return until April 1. The round-trip fare from Butte on the excursion train is $55.50.

I Can Save You Money On Oriental Rugs

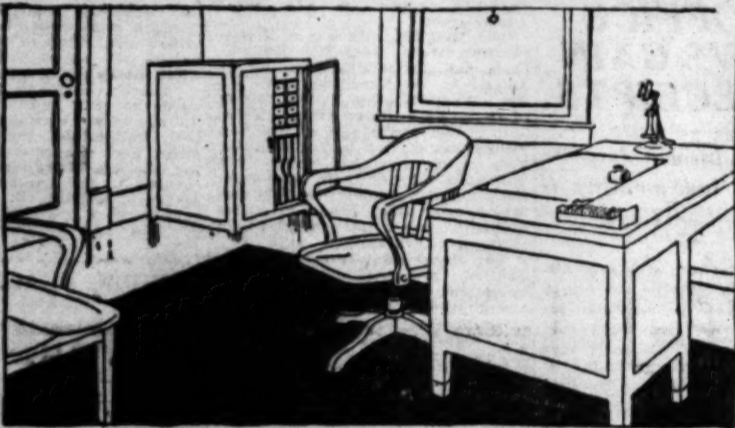

I have only recently returned to Southern California after about eight years absence and have re-engaged in the Oriental Rug business.

My stocks are all new—all bought since prices reached bottom.

This is perhaps a greater advantage than you may realize—for you can see that merchants who own rugs at high war-time costs must endeavor to at least equalize their prices to avoid serious losses.

My stocks are exceedingly comprehensive in the smaller sizes, medium sizes and in the very large room sizes, and I know that comparison of values will prove to you that I can save you money.

SHANNON FACES HEARING TODAY.

Deputy United States Marshal to Hear Charges.

Warrant Used in His Arrest is Questioned.

Yellowley on Investigation; Three Held in Raid.

When the case against Deputy U. S. Marshal Sidney J. Shannon, stationed at Fresno, charged with violation of the Volstead law, is called before U. S. Commissioner Long this morning it is probable that a curious situation will arise, in that office of the United States attorney, charged with the enforcement of the national prohibition, will know nothing about the matter.

The warrant against Mr. Shannon was sworn to by C. H. Wheeler, a member of the prohibition enforcement corps, a week ago, but it was held awaiting an investigation into the circumstances of the case. It is the universal rule for the office of the United States attorney to be consulted about violations of the liquor laws. This was not done in this case, it seems.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Herron stated yesterday that he knew nothing about the charges against Mr. Shannon, had no information in regard to it and had no list of witnesses to be produced this morning. He stated that he would be in court this morning to question the witnesses, if they appear, and will do his duty under the law, but the arrest of both Mr. Shannon and State Senator Lyons had been made on a warrant that has not been authorized by the office of the District Attorney. It is one of the features of the case, it is stated that no effort has been made to arrest the other guests at the table with Mr. Shannon, and who drank of the three glasses of wine that had been furnished by the friend giving the party. Mr. Shannon insists that he did not drink a drop of the liquor.

YELLOWLEY INVESTIGATION.
Edward C. Yellowley, personal representative of Commissioner of Prohibition Hays, is still in the city, and will remain several days more. He expects to have an interview this morning with Federal Prohibition Agent Avery for Southern California, on the status of the work in this section, and it is probable that the developments of the past month in regard to the administration of Mr. Avery will be discussed, and a future course determined. It is understood that Mr. Yellowley spent yesterday seeking information in regard to various phases of the operation of the local prohibition office since Mr. Avery took charge, last fall. Agent Avery asks the fullest investigation of his official acts, he says, and is without fear as to the result.

THREE ARRESTED.
Prohibition Enforcement Officers O'Leary, Doyle and Mosher captured three Italians, Tony Ferrar, Frank Chillea and James Fiero yesterday, at Palma. An automobile and a quantity of moonshine liquor were confiscated. The officers stated the men put up a stiff fight, but were overpowered. The prisoners led the officers to a house in Palma, where three stills were found in operation, and a quantity of brandy and mash was confiscated. It is reported. In the fight before the capture of the men, Fiero had one of his ribs broken. The men were placed in the County Jail.

ALIBI BARS NEW TRIAL FOR FRAUD.

David Rogers, Convicted
in Fake Stock Deal Case,
Now Free of Charge.

David Rogers stood yesterday in the unusual position of having such a good alibi that it was decided he would not be given a second trial, after having been once convicted. In one trial before Judge Reeve, the defendant was found guilty of grand larceny of $11,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Werner Roehl on May 26, 1919, in an asserted fake stock deal. By consent of the District Attorney, represented by Dep. Dist. Atty. Keyes, the court granted Rogers a new trial.

When the case was called yesterday, Dep. Dist. Atty. Fricke asked that the charge be dismissed. He stated that the defendant had produced an alibi that he was in St. Louis about the time of the asserted offense in Los Angeles. It was stated that investigation showed that Rogers' name actually appeared on a hotel register in St. Louis at the time. Peculiarity was indicated as it was stated that when Rogers fought extradition to this city from Detroit, where he was arrested, he had given a different alibi.

The court dismissed the case and the defendant's bail was exonerated.

Mexico to Bar Films Defaming Latin Republic.

Dispatches from Mexico received here yesterday said the government of that country will refuse to permit the entry of the products of motion-picture companies "that may continue depicting films defaming or stigmatizing Mexico." The prohibition applies even when such films are destined to other countries.

TEASDALE RESIGNS FROM REALTY BOARD.

The Los Angeles Realty Board yesterday accepted the resignation of Everett P. Teasdale, assistant secretary of the board, effective at once. L. J. Durnerin, first vice-president, stated.

In his communication asking the board to accept his resignation, Mr. Teasdale expressed pleasure at the surroundings and profitable nature of his work with the Realty Board.

Two Make Escape

By a clever ruse, Howard and Ralph De Voe, two youths sentenced on Monday terms of from five to six years in San Quentin, escaped from the County Jail today. The prisoners took advantage of the crowded conditions when visitors are permitted inside.

It was indicated from a made to Sheriff Treasurer by Cronin that the two youths who, in a few days, have been in San Quentin, fully planned their escape. Sheriff ordered an investigation and Under Sheriff Biscailus that "no careless would be allowed for anything that happens."

GAVE UP PASSER.
While C. Jostyn, 2230 Alameda street, was waiting to see a passer, he was asked for his pass by a man who said he was a visitor. Jostyn said he gave up the pass, also occurred to E. R. King, a visitor.

When they tried to leave the visitors were stopped by the passers. It was then discovered that De Voe and Reed had been using the names and by the advantage of the fact that turnkey on the outside gate did not know them.

It was then learned by Cronin that after the two returned from Judge Reeve's on Monday, they did not return their street clothes for the return jail blue denim.

WORK STREET CLOTHES.
Instead they put the denim over their other clothes. Yesterday an attorney called to see Cronin. When the lawyer left, they changed the two passers from the visitors and escaped, according to Cronin's report.

Mr. Cronin reported that practically impossible to handle all on a visiting day with only turnkeys for the entire prison, especially with 487 prisoners. He also stated that the escape made possible by the lock screws to separate prisoners and visitors. In addition to various tanks, it was stated, five turnkeys have to get all fifty prisoners ready for court every day.

Under Sheriff Biscailus and Manning of criminal investigation immediately sent out descriptions of the two fugitives to outposts and telephoned to various police authorities. The matter will also be watched, was stated.

Escorted to San Quentin, Two Make Escape.

By a clever ruse, Howard Reed and Ralph De Vos, two of three youths sentenced on Monday to terms of from five to sixty-five years in San Quentin prison, escaped from the County Jail yesterday. The prisoners took advantage of the crowded jail conditions when visitors are permitted inside.

It was indicated from a report made to Sheriff Treasurer by Jailer Cruta that the two young men, who in a few days more, would have been in San Quentin, carefully planned their escape. The sheriff ordered an investigation and Under Sheriff Biscailus stated that "no evidence could be accepted for anything that happened."

GAVE UP PASSER.

While C. Joelyn, 2839 Alessandro street, was waiting to see a prisoner, he was asked for his pass and who he wanted to see. Mr. Joelyn said he gave up the pass. This also occurred to E. R. King, another visitor.

When they tried to leave the jail, the visitors were stopped, having no passes. It was then discovered that De Vos and Reed had escaped by using the passes and by taking advantage of the fact that the turnkey on the outside gate did not know them.

It was then learned by Jailer Cruta that after the two youths returned from Judge Reeve's court on Monday, they did not remove their street clothes for the regulation jail blue denim.

WORE STREET CLOTHES. Instead they put the denim on over their other clothes. Yesterday an attorney called to see them. When the lawyer left, they obtained the two passes from the visitors and escaped, according to Jailer Cruta's report.

Mr. Cronin reported that it is practically impossible to handle the jail on a visiting day with only five turnkeys for the entire place, especially with 487 prisoners. It was also stated that the escape was made possible by the lack of access to separate prisoners from visitors. In addition to watching various tanks, it was stated, the five turnkeys have to get about fifty prisoners ready for court every day.

Under Sheriff Biscailus and Supt. Manning of criminal investigation immediately sent out descriptions of the two fugitives to outlying towns and telephoned to various police authorities. The Mexican border will also be watched, it was stated.

BIG CHECK NOW LIES IN VAULT.

Deposit on City Bonds Stays in Clerk's Hands After Sale.

May, Mr. Hellman, come in and get your $125,000, says, in effect, City Clerk Dominguez.

Irving Hellman on August 3 deposited a check for $125,000 in the big deal for the power bonds at a secret sale on a huge discount. The City Council was willing to sell them in that way to him, but the State Supreme Court ruled it was illegal.

Mr. Hellman's check has been lying in the vault in Mr. Dominguez's office. The money at 1 per cent could be earning some $25 a day and the days are flying. In the meantime the bonds have been sold at public sale to the First Securities Company Syndicate at a big premium to the city.

Increased Tax Rate Limit to be Considered.

On the suggestion of Councilman Mushet, President Criswell of the City Council yesterday appointed a special committee on charter amendments consisting of Councilmen Mushet, Mallard and Wheeler. This committee will at once take under consideration a proposal made by Mr. Mushet that a charter amendment be passed providing for the tax raising of the maximum tax levy rate from $1 to $1.25 per $100 of assessed property valuation.

Mr. Mushet advocates the amendment for the reason that city revenues have been so seriously depleted by the loss of liquor licenses, the fixing of assessments by the county and by the provisions of Constitutional Amendment No 1 applying to corporation taxes that the increase in the tax levy to $1.25 is now a necessity. He also pointed out that if this increase is made undoubtedly the occupational tax can be done away with.

THOMAS PAGE BURIED.

Member of Pioneer Family Laid to Rest in Inglewood.

Funeral services for Thomas Page, member of a pioneer family, who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital last Monday, were conducted yesterday in the chapel of George A. Fitch. The private services for the family were conducted later in Inglewood Cemetery. Mr. Page, a resident of San Diego and one of the best known bachelors in Southern California, was 44 years old. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Clifford Page, two sisters, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman and Mrs. Albert Crutcher, and two brothers, John Clifford Page and James R. Page.

PIONEER CHURCH TO BE RAZED.

Last Services in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral to be Held Next Month.

St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral will bring to a close another chapter in its long and eventful history the evening of February 12, when the last services will be held in the edifice which has been a house of worship for more than thirty years. On the following day, possession of the property will be taken by the Biltmore Hotel Corporation, and the church building, which has stood so long as a landmark, will be razed to make way for the great hotel.

The parish of St. Paul's is one of the oldest in Los Angeles, having been founded more than fifty-five years ago. The first church building, then known as St. Athanasius, was located near the Courthouse. In 1888 the church bought the site which is soon to be turned over to the hotel corporation, and erected the present building.

Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of a new site on Figueroa street, near Sixth. Pending the selection of a site, and the erection of a new building, arrangements have been completed whereby the Sunday school services will be held in the auditorium of the Pacific Mutual Building. Administration offices for the bishop, the bishop-coadjutor, and their secretary, and offices for the administration of the affairs of the parish, will also be located in the Pacific Mutual Building.

Through the courtesy of the Scottish Rite Order of the Masons, the Scottish Rite Temple at 929 South Hope street will be available for the morning and evening services of the church until the new home is completed. This is a courtesy which, Dean MacCormack says, is deeply appreciated by church officials, since it solves the problem of their housing problem until the new edifice is built.

Through the courtesy of the Morocco Theater, noonday services during Lent will be held at the theater. If the site on Figueroa street is definitely selected, one of the old residences now on the property will be temporarily used for the activities of the parish and the diocese. Dean MacCormack's study will be located in one of these buildings, as will also, if it is possible to arrange it, the early morning and week-day celebrations.

NEED SEED WHEAT. Relief for the Molokans is not a permanent relief. Following the routing of the Turks from their lands last April the Molokans had no opportunity to sow crops because all draft animals were stolen and they had no seed wheat. Their greatest need is seed wheat.

Given the opportunity to sow a crop, they will then be able to care for themselves. E. Guy Talbot, regional director of the Near East Relief, who visited Southern Russia last summer as a member of the American commission, was in the famine area and stated yesterday that the need of the Russians on the southern border between Russia and Turkey cannot be exaggerated.

DYING IN STREET.

"I saw literally hundreds of dead and dying on the streets of Alexandropol and other villages," he said. "Scores of children were eating grass and roots for there was nothing growing in the land. The city of Erivan, at the foot of Mt. Ararat, has 200,000 refugees. Their condition is pitiful, as there is absolutely no food or clothing in that land. Those people, many of whom have relatives in Los Angeles, look upon California as the Kingdom of Heaven."

"The city of Tiflis in the heart of the Caucasus Mountains and once known as the Paris of the Near East, now has 100,000 refugees, who fled from Central Russia at the time of the Red revolution and who are now living in destitution and want."

The cargo to be shipped by the Russian Molokan committee will consist of flour, beans, dried fruits, canned goods and clothing.

Mrs. Byers Will be Laid at Rest Here Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Byers, wife of Maj. S. H. M. Byers, former United States Minister to Switzerland, will be conducted at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Pierce Brothers undertaking chapel. The remains will be cremated.

Mrs. Byers, who had been ill for a year, died last Monday night at the family residence, 3044 West Seventh street. At 19 years of age she was a professor of mathematics. At 26 she accompanied her husband to Switzerland and mastered several languages. She was a student of history and art of French and English social and political history and was a contributor of sketches to leading magazines. For the last four years she had been an invalid.

NEW METHOD OF HEATING.

Ontario Man to Save Crops Without Smudge.

Soon to Manufacture Device to Fight Frost.

Proposition of Wide Interest in Citrus Belt.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
ONTARIO, Jan. 31.—Increased temperature without smudge. That is the claim of L. J. Whitlock, Palmdale-avenue rancher, for an orchard heater which he has invented. Ontario ranchers and business men have assured their support with a view to placing it on the market at an early date. An announcement of the smudgeless heater will be hailed with relief by housewives and merchants throughout the length and breadth of the citrus belt and ranchers who have looked into the merits of the thing are enthusiastic over its prospects of success.
Mr. Whitlock calls his invention a weather moderator. It is built on the electric fan principle and its success as a heater of temperature is chiefly due to the scientific fact that there is always a warm stratum of air some 2 to 4 feet above the ground, even when the temperature at the earth is extremely low. The fan apparatus is so constructed as to pull this warmer air down into the orchard where the moderator is set up and it is said to have been proven by actual tests on several occasions that the temperature has been raised in each instance from two to four degrees without the introduction of artificial heat.
As an added safeguard, however, it is claimed that the temperature may be still further boosted by placing smokeless heaters on each of the four sides of the moderator, which is so constructed as to distribute the heat over the orchard in which it is installed.
The moderator is operated by an electric motor and one of the chief advantages claimed for it, is that it can be operated automatically by means of a thermometer. It is set to throw the switch when the temperature reaches a dangerous level and when the thermometer drops to that point the moderator at once commences to operate. The switch controlling the lighting of the heaters is set for a few low temperatures so that in the event the temperatures drop to a more dangerous point, this added protection gets under way, with the result that the rancher may be assured of saving his fruit without so much as getting out of bed, not to mention eliminating the necessity for working throughout the bitter night in the filthy smudge.
Ranchers and business men are interested in the moderator, which it is said can be installed for a fraction of the cost of the present smudge-pot heating system, and the organization of a company to manufacture the apparatus here on a large scale is said to be practically assured.

ROBBER TELLS OF KILLING.

Confesses Crime to Officers at Pasadena.

Death Ends Career of Crown City Editor.

City Engineer's Report Says That Water is Wasted.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
PASADENA, Jan. 31.—James C. Norton, just bound over to Supreme Court from Pasadena on charges of robbery, is wanted in Washington, D. C., on charges of having killed a man named William Michaels, according to advice received by the local office today.
When first arrested here in connection with several hold-ups here, to which he confessed to Chief of Police C. H. Kelley, Norton told Kelley that he held up and robbed a man in Washington and that he learned his victim subsequently died.
Norton is now in the Los Angeles County Jail. Chief Kelley suspected that Norton was inventing the tale to get a trip back East; nevertheless he inquired of the District of Columbia authorities to learn if Norton was wanted there for such a crime. Advice have just been received stating that he is.

MILITARY EDITOR DIES.

Fits E. Beach, until recently editor of a local weekly called the Pasadena Press and for years one of Pasadena's most picturesque characters, was found dead at his home, 137 South Los Robles avenue, this morning.

The doctors said that he died from heart trouble but his friends think they describe it more accurately by saying that he died from a broken heart.
At one time possessed of much property, his estates dwindled as his personal and political enemies grew in numbers, resultant from vitriolic attacks he launched every week in his newspaper and in the forums of the town. Finally creditors closed in and took the newspaper property from him. The paper suspended. That was several months ago. Without an organ with which to lambast those individuals and corporations he so violently disagreed with, Mr. Beach declined in health and spirit. Financial worries assailed him. Death ended his troubles.

SAYS WATER IS WASTED.

Much water is being wasted through the Devil's Gate Dam, because sufficient repairs were not made to the dam gates following the December storm, according to a report made to City Manager C. W. Keller today by R. B. Morris, chief engineer and superintendent of the Pasadena city water department. Morris made the report to Keller for "his information."
Patrolman P. J. McNulty, who followed the clues that led to the arrest and confession of Fred A. Grace, former bank teller and business man, as the hold-up artist who robbed a Citizens' Savings Bank messenger of $15,000, has been rewarded with a promotion to detective sergeant. McNulty also received several hundred dollars reward offered for the capture of the hold-up.

BOOTLEGGERS MUST WORK.

Hereafter bootleggers and other persons confined in the City Jail as punishment for crimes will be put to work on the city's natural park project in the Arroyo Seco. Such is the plan of Chief Charles H. Kelley. Bootleggers will be assigned to the work of clearing out the poison oak. This is a bit of irony on the chief's part.

REDLANDS DEDICATES CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
REDLANDS, Jan. 31.—The new $12,000 addition to the First Christian Church was dedicated in a big service here yesterday with Dr. C. R. Hudson of Los Angeles giving the address. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, one of the leaders of the denomination in Southern California, was expected to occupy the prominent place on the program, but illness prevented.
The addition was dedicated free from debt although many obstacles had to be overcome, and at the service more than $4000 were subscribed to make this possible.
Dr. Hudson said that when distress came upon the church of Jerusalem, members sold their jewels and treasures and gave to the church. He said that he always rejoiced to see any church doing as much in these days and he felt that the building dedicated represented real sacrifice.

CHURCH DESTROYED.

Fine Structure at Owensmouth in Food for Flames.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
OWENSMOUTH, Jan. 31.—The stately Colonial Community Church building which has been one of the finest buildings of the town was destroyed by fire Monday night. Defective wiring is believed to have been the cause of the fire which was first noticed at 10 p.m. The building which was about one year old, cost $25,000, was insured for $27,000, and was mortgaged for approximately $18,500, though some outstanding subscriptions will reduce the sum of the mortgage.
M. B. Jones and son Walter were the first on the ground and succeeded in saving the organ and some furniture from the church parlors. Inability to force an entrance to the auditorium, caused a complete loss of all furniture and fittings.
The local fire department responded quickly and did the best possible with their limited equipment. The weight of evidence pointed to the fact that the church was destroyed by fire.

JEALOUS HUSBAND SHOOT.

Wife of Los Angeles Man in Hospital in Long Beach With Three Bullets in Body.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

LONG BEACH, Jan. 31.—Frank O. Ames of Los Angeles fired three shots into the back of his wife, Maud Ames, on the streets here early tonight. The woman has been taken to Seaside Hospital, where surgeons say her condition is critical.

The shooting is the outgrowth of domestic trouble which resulted in a separation and a growing feeling of jealousy upon the part of the husband. "I'll get you now," he is said to have cried as he came upon his wife and 13-year-old son at the corner of Third and Chestnut streets.

ASKS FOR SUPPORT, BUT NO DIVORCE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
UPLAND, Jan. 31.—Although alleging in her complaint on file today in the Superior Court that her husband, Carl Fabeschutz, frequently boasted to her of his improper relations with another woman and told her "to go out and get another man," Mrs. Constance Fabeschutz seeks court order for separate maintenance. The wife bases her suit on charges of cruelty. Her husband does not contribute to her support, she alleges, and her love for him has grown cold.
Mrs. Fabeschutz declines to file a complaint that she does not believe in divorce, being a member of the Catholic church, and there-

VALENTINES IN JURORS' PARTY.

Superior Judge Myers Honor Guest at Luncheon.

Dan Cupid Shies at Goddess of Justice.

Women Members Give Views on Court Service.

BY MYRA NYE.

After all there is something new under the sun in February, the Valentine month. It is a new situation for scenicists, playwrights or novelists with the title "They Met on the Jury" as demonstrated yesterday in the Valentine party given in honor of Judge Myers by his jury in Department Eleven, Superior Court. Dan Cupid has tightened his bow and sharpened his arrows and is "all set" for the many Valentine parties but this jury stole a march on him and held theirs early. Not that anybody has fallen in love on that particular jury, that is, not that anyone knows; for the same small Dan is apt to shy at the Goddess of Justice, the latter being too austere and cold for his arrow tips.

But yesterday there were all the appearances of love, courtship and marriage at the party at the Alexandria parlor. F. Nov. F. stands for fond, faithful, favor, feast, flowers, froth, foam and aim for foolish, fickle, false and farwell—and good Valentine words. So parlor F was a fitting place for the function.

There were red Valentine hearts for place cards and on each heart stood a miniature man or woman from whose mouth issued in cartoon fashion such words as "If you had a feller like me and I had a girl like you wouldn't it be simply grand?" Three widows were present and three detached men to attend them as luncheon partners—all met since January 3, when they were called to jury service. Their placecards said to their partners, "If you can't get any body else, you can always count on me." On the lone bachelor's card a ravishing vamp said to him, "What you need is nerve" and for some of the others of the party "How would you like to have me parked around for life?" For the woman who had been excused from the jury repeatedly there was "Why don't you ask me? I'm tongue-tied."

Mrs. Daniel Campbell presided as toastmistress, and when she asked Judge Myers to speak, he retorted the unexpected thrust by asking all the women present to ask questions or make suggestions regarding their new experience as jurors.

The responses were essentially feminine, while the men stopped eating, looked on and listened with all their superior wisdom concerning women, juries and jury service. Why does the wisest or proudest juror have to answer just "yes" or "no"? All the truth, as every woman knows, is in what she adds after the monosyllable. Why are jurors or witnesses not allowed to imagine and yet are expected to imagine in weighing the evidence and can't get at the truth without imagination? Still another ran something like this: "You can't hear any used, or thoughts, or surmises, or suspicions, and why when you know a thing is so do you take weeks of time and thousands of dollars to prove it? How does legal justice differ from human justice, and at which are the courts aiming?"

Mrs. Campbell is Scotch-Irish-American, a member of the Friday Morning Club, a club that is specializing in jury service this year. Her husband lived in this country with her twenty-one years before he was called to the jury. As soon as her summons came his came also to the grand jury and Mrs. Campbell says she thinks it a strange thing after twenty-one years of happy wedded life to be thus called together to court. She says her husband boasts that he is on the Federal jury for six months, while she is called for only thirty days, and her response is, "I am in the Superior Court."

There were about twenty in all who enjoyed the luncheon between court sessions yesterday. Among the women were Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. N. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Carr, Mrs. Frank Bryson, Mrs. C. H. Montgomery, Mrs. Rose Charles, Mrs. H. E. Armstrong, Mrs. M. Merry, Mrs. C. H. Peckham, Mrs. W. R. Pierce, Mrs. L. E. Wallace and Mrs. G. E. Osborn.

They were not dressed in a Valentine as above, for they had to be gowning on for court, but they were unanimous in their consent to pass the idea along and to tell how to make costumes for other Valentine parties.

The crepe paper costumes are very effective, and they cost little. The man's regalia shows a full width of white crepe paper cut at the center and slipped on over the head. The lower part is cut up to the waist both front and back. A man holds it in place. Two mattock hearts stitched together form the hat.

The panniers on the young maid's dress are made like the loop of a large bow from the full width of red crepe paper. One edge is Kipling Was Right.

A New Jersey householder, set upon by bandits, lifted up his voice in a wild wail for his wife. The wife appeared, a frying pan in one hand and a rolling pin in the other. The bandits fled. This is Mr. Kipling's observation of the relative deadliness of the sexes fully vindicated. A woman scorned is, we are told by still another poet, beyond all the furies to be feared. But a woman defending her husband's pay envelope is still more to be feared.—(New York Tribune.)

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Helps for Epicures and All Who Appreciate Good Cooking.

By Chef A. D. Wyman, M.C.A.

[Chef Wyman will give his tested and proved recipes to the readers of The Times, and any information pertaining to the preparation and serving of foods that they may ask. All questions will be answered in this column, which is published every Wednesday. Address all requests for information or recipes to Chef A. D. Wyman, box 901, Station C, Los Angeles.—Ed.]

This week we take up the work that we were forced to abandon over a year ago on account of our trip to the eastern cities. That this trip gave us many new ideas and recipes will be proved by the recipes and information that we will be able to give The Times readers in answer to their requests.

Do not send stamped envelopes with requests, as all information asked for will be published in this column in the order that it is received.

During the past two weeks a number of requests have reached me through The Times office and these I will answer this week, but in the future all requests should be addressed to A. D. Wyman, box 901, Station C, Los Angeles. Cheese and Nut Salad.

A. M. Alhambra, wants a recipe for a cheese and nut salad to serve for a luncheon. To make mash through a sieve the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs and mix them with one cup of grated nut cheese, half a cup of chopped walnut meats, one teaspoon of mustard, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. When well mixed add three tablespoons of lemon, French dressing and place with a teaspoon on a bed of shredded lettuce. Garnish the plates with the finely-chopped egg whites and a few tips of celery.

Sardine Canape.

B. E. L. Pasadena, would like a recipe for sardine canape. Requested cheese paste to serve with a dinner. For the sardine canape drain the oil from a small can of boneless sardines and mash them to a paste with a tablespoon of creamed butter and a seasoning of lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and paprika. Cut thin slices of toast into rounds with a small cutter and spread with the paste. Cover the canapes with the white of hard-boiled eggs, which have been rubbed through a sieve. Place a stoned ripe olive in the center of each canape, and serve before the dinner on a folded napkin. For the Roquefort cheese paste mash half a cup of Roquefort cheese with a one-third of a cup of butter and spread on plain unsweetened wafers and dust with powdered cinnamon. Serve with the coffee.

Ice Box Cake.

H. K. L. Whittier, asks for recipe for ice box cake. Beat to a cream a pound of sweet butter with one and a third cups of powdered sugar; now add one at a time three whole eggs, beating thoroughly after adding each egg. Beat in half a pound of blanched and grated almonds, the well-beaten yolks of three eggs, the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, half a teaspoon of lemon extract, and one teaspoon of orange extract. Line the side of a spring form with halves of lady fingers and cover the bottom with macaroons. Pour in half of the mixture and cover with a layer of macaroons and cover the macaroons with the balance of the mixture. Place on the ice in the refrigerator for twenty-four hours. Unmold onto a cold plate, cover with whipped cream and place halves of walnut meats around the edge. Suet Pudding.

W. M. S. city, was contemplating a mince pie made from a recipe published in this column last November, but some one walked off with his recipe, so I am mailing off with this recipe. For the mince mix one cup of finely chopped kidney suet with half a cup of flour and add one cup of raisins, one teaspoon of soda, one cup of milk, half a teaspoon of salt, half a cup of cleaned currants, half a cup of chopped seeded raisins, half a cup of chopped figs and three and one-half cups of flour. Mix well and add 1/2 cup of butter, mold three-quarters full, cover and boil for three hours. A good sauce for this pudding is made by beating to a cream half a cup of butter and one cup of powdered sugar and when well creamed add half a cup of hot orange juice.

J. V. South Pasadena, made the mince-meat recipe published in this column over a year ago and wants to know how to make it keep. One way after packing in glass jars and sterilize in a hot-water bath for twenty minutes. Seal tight when cold and store in a cool, dark place.

Luncheon for Eight.

L. E. V., a visitor from Canada, asks what to serve for a party of eight for a luncheon to be served at home. She wants a soup, a meat, a vegetable, a salad, a fruit, a dessert and a drink.

For the fruit cocktail or salpicon of fruit mix one cup of orange juice with four tablespoons lemon juice, two sliced bananas, two peeled diced oranges, four peeled and diced apples, one peeled and diced grape fruit; place in the ice box until thoroughly chilled. Serve in tall punch or cocktail glasses and place a cherry on each glass.

For the creme de marron or chestnut soup place in a saucepan four cups of chestnuts and skinned chestnut meats and stew enough water to cover them. Stew the chestnuts until they are tender, then rub them through a sieve into a larger pot and add to them four cups of chicken stock. Bring to a boil and season with celery salt, nutmeg and a little onion juice. Color with a little vegetable green coloring and stir in just before serving two cups of whipped cream. Serve in bouillon cups.

The chicken, potato croquettes and corn fritters should be served on one plate, garnished with strips of broiled bacon and cream sauce.

For the salad use equal parts of shredded lettuce and the white part of the endive and mix with French dressing. Nice if garnished with strips of pimiento and ripe olives stuffed with nut meats.

AWARDED JUDGMENT AGAINST DISTILLERY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—A $300,000 judgment against the Mason Malt Whisky Distilling Company of Sausalito, for refusal to keep its contract to deliver whisky slops or distillery refuse, to the Western Industries Company, of Agnew, which converted the slops into potash, was upheld today by the District Court of Appeal. The Agnew concern declared deliveries stopped when the distillery learned how profitable the refuse was that formerly had been allowed to waste into San Francisco Bay.

Recipe to Make a Gray Hair Remedy

A. L. Paulson, M. D., who practiced medicine in New York for many years, gave out the following recipe for a home-made gray hair remedy. "Gray, streaked hair can be quickly turned black, brown or light brown, whatever shade you desire, by the following remedy that you can make at home."

"Merely get a box of Orin's hair cream. It costs very little and no extras to be paid. It is in 3 oz. of distilled water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use are on the box. A good guarantee comes in the form of a refund."

"It is safe, does not rub off, does not stick or flake, and leaves the hair soft and shiny. A gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(Advertisement.)
